

WHY THE PROJECT IS HAPPENING

The project is funded by the Scottish Government and will run for 3 years. It is part of a larger programme to

- ➔ Raise awareness among people getting support about the choices they can have.
- ➔ Encourage care providers to give people as much choice as possible and deliver support that works well for each person.

The Self-directed support arrangements that were introduced in 2014 give people using social care more choice and control.

People in touch with the criminal justice system can have choice in some aspects of the services they use, although not in others.

- ➔ For example, they can have more choice in the mental health or addictions services that they use, but not for a probation service.
- ➔ They can choose which organisation provides their support but are unlikely to be allowed to employ a Personal Assistant.

Moving Forward

Turning Point Scotland, Outside the Box and the Glasgow Community Justice Authority are working with other partners in Glasgow to create more choice and control in support for people in touch with the criminal justice system.

designed and produced by Michael Dancer / 0141 424 0401

So far, the new flexibility not been used much for people who are in touch with the criminal justice system. But it has the potential to help people to achieve positive outcomes and encourage people to take more control of their lives.

We want to explore ways to make Personalisation and Self-directed support work well for people who are in touch with the criminal justice system.

- ➔ Learn what is possible and what the limits are for people in these circumstances.
- ➔ Create opportunities for support providers to work together to give people support that is well suited to their needs.
- ➔ Use the experience and ideas from people who have used community justice services to create services that work well for people getting support and for the whole community.

WHAT WE WILL BE DOING

- ➔ Turning Point Scotland will have a SDS champion to raise awareness about what is possible within TPS and other providers supporting people who live in Glasgow.
- ➔ There will be a network to enable support providers to share what they are doing and learning about supporting people in these circumstances.
- ➔ Outside the Box will support people who use services to be involved, and to then raise awareness among people getting support.
- ➔ We will look at ways to create new types of services that can be more flexible and achieve good outcomes for people.
- ➔ We will be sharing what we do and learn with people across Scotland.

HOW TO GET INVOLVED

- ➔ We want to hear about work other providers are doing to increase Personalisation in your services.
- ➔ We want to hear about ways the people who use your services and their families are part of influencing what you do and raising awareness about increased choices among people who get support.
- ➔ We will have regular updates from the project and want to include examples of what is happening in services across Glasgow and in the other partners and services.
